

YOU SAID IT

Community Survey Results

In March 2006, 400 adult residents of Yellowstone County were interviewed by telephone to determine opinions about life in the county and perceptions about ExxonMobil. What did we learn?

Overall, views of life in Yellowstone County are positive. A large majority of residents believe the county is a healthy and desirable place to live. However, life can be improved, respondents say, by more jobs, better roads, and expanded job skills training.

Specific to ExxonMobil, the public holds the company in high regard as a safe, trustworthy neighbor. However, two survey responses concern us. Less than half of respondents feel that we keep the public informed and respond to community concerns. Only four in ten say they know what to do in the event of a hazardous chemical release. In 2007, we will work to address these issues through the Community Advisory Panel and other initiatives.

Community surveys are one way we gauge public opinion at ExxonMobil Billings. Your phone calls, letters, and in-person queries are always welcome.

For a complete copy of the 2006 survey results, call Pam Malek at 657-5249.

Additional survey results:

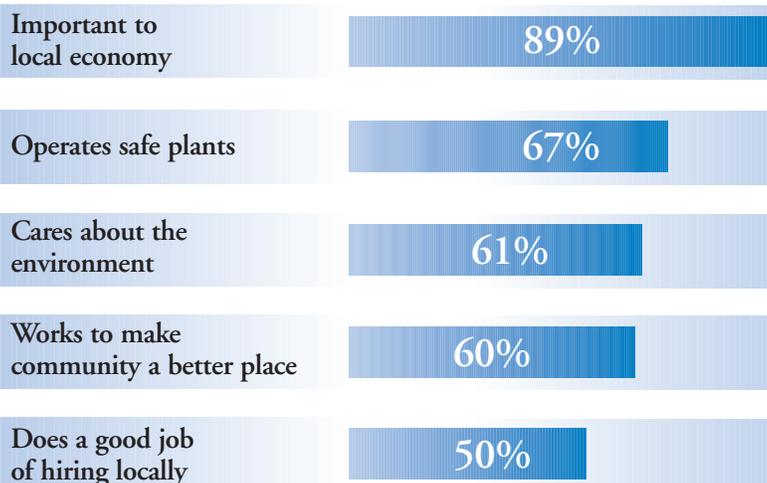

Safety and environment – Most people believe that ExxonMobil works well with emergency responders (59%), cares about the environment (61%), and complies with environmental regulations (58%).

Community contributions and economics – Six in ten feel that ExxonMobil supports the community through contributions (62%) and employee involvement (61%). Almost nine in ten feel the refinery is important to the local economy.

Awareness and image – Forty-three percent think first of gas, oil, and fuel when they hear the word ExxonMobil. Less favorable first thoughts include high gas prices, oil spills, big business, and pollution.

Quality of life – Sixty percent say that ExxonMobil has made the quality of life in Billings better.

Percent that strongly agree with these statements about ExxonMobil in the community:*

*Remaining percent either disagree (2%-19%), neither agree nor disagree (2%-7%), or don't know (7%-41%).

Happy Holidays From all of us at ExxonMobil

AND THEN SOME . . .

Major Gifts from ExxonMobil Billings: To the Montana Council, Boy Scouts of America, $20,000 for environmental education for boy and girl scouts at the K-M Scout Ranch near Hilger; to the American Red Cross of Montana, $10,000 for local fire relief and disaster response efforts; to the Billings Education Foundation, $10,000 for the Saturday Live public schools fundraiser; to ZooMontana, $5,000 for ZooFari, a fundraiser for children's zoo programs, exhibit and grounds maintenance, and veterinary care; to Rocky Mountain College, $2,500 for Black Tie Blue Jeans fundraiser; to Montana State University-Billings College of Technology, $2,000 for student scholarships; to Deaconess Foundation, $2,000 for the 2006 Classic fundraiser; to St. Vincent Healthcare Foundation, $1,000 for the SAINTS benefit; to Billings Studio Theatre, $1,000 for "Tom Sawyer" production.

Additional Donations to: Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts Treasure Trails, Yellowstone County Museum, Yellowstone County 4H, Domestic & Sexual Violence Services, Red Lodge Music Festival, Parents Lets Unite for Kids (PLUK), North Park Neighborhood Task Force, Montana Emergency Medical Services, Special Olympics.

Refinery Retirements (July-December): Larry Allred, John Askins, Greg Burton, Al Clayton, Larry Hylland, Wayne Jiggins, Dave Loberg, Tom O'Donnell, Harry Rukstad, Joyce Stevenson, and Bob Turner. Thank you and best wishes!

Refinery Employment Anniversaries (July-December): John Askins, Al Clayton (35 years); Bill Bentley, Kurt Erickson, Manny Flores, Mary Helgeson, Dale Wallila (25 years); Lorri Chester, Troy Kostelecky, Trent Nielsen (15 years); Fred Holland, Larry Siemers (10 years); Justin Hadley (5 years).

Safety Sound-Off

For on-site safety of employees and visitors, the refinery tests its emergency warning system every Wednesday at noon. A single loud blast of a steam whistle warns of a fire or process plant evacuation. A high-pitch, multi-tone siren warns of a vapor release.

Employees are regularly trained for appropriate response in the event of a real on-site emergency. Before entering the refinery, all visitors are oriented with a site safety video.

CAP MEETINGS

Upcoming meetings of the ExxonMobil Community Advisory Panel (CAP) are scheduled for February 20, May 15, and August 21, 2007. All interested persons are invited to attend. For meetings times and locations, call Pam Malek, at 657-5249.

Neighborhood News is a periodic publication of the ExxonMobil Billings refinery. The goal of the newsletter is to share community-related refinery news, as well as news of employee and corporate involvement in business, the arts, education, and recreation in Yellowstone County. Address your comments, questions, and suggestions to: Pamela R. Malek, Editor, Neighborhood News, ExxonMobil Billings Refinery, P.O. Box 1163, Billings, Montana 59103.

ExxonMobil

P.O. Box 1163
Billings, Montana 59103

ECRWSS

PRSR STD
U.S. POSTAGE PAID
Permit #1
Billings, MT

POSTAL CUSTOMER

Questions? Call ExxonMobil at 657-5411.